EXECUTIVE SUMMARY
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Total Overseas Market. There were approximately 21.7 million overseas visitors to the U.S. in 2006, representing no change from 2005. Approximately 4.6 million overseas visitors (21.3%) indicated California was a destination on their U.S. trip, down 3.7% from 4.8 million overseas visitors to California in 2005.
- Mexican (Air). There were 1,713,000 Mexican travelers who arrived in the U.S. by air in 2006 (a 2.7% increase). Approximately 466,000 (27.2%) of these Mexican travelers visited California during their U.S. trip (a 6% decrease from 2005).¹
- Country of Origin. California's top ten overseas visitor market countries were:

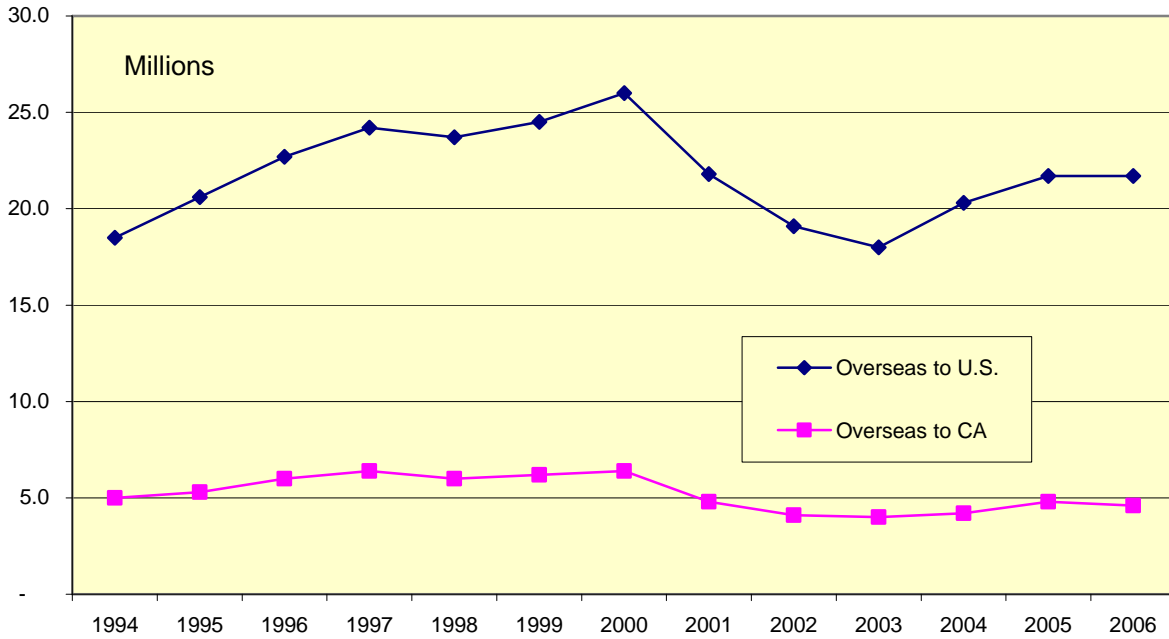

| Overseas Visitors to California | | | | |
|--|-------------------------|-------------|-------------|-----------------|
| Rank | Country | 2005 | 2006 | % Change |
| 1) | United Kingdom | 778,000 | 752,000 | -3.3% |
| 2) | Japan | 722,000 | 646,000 | -10.5% |
| 3) | South Korea | 252,000 | 311,000 | 23.4% |
| 4) | Australia | 313,000 | 286,000 | -8.6% |
| 5) | Germany | 309,000 | 241,000 | -22.0% |
| 6) | China (excl. Hong Kong) | 146,000 | 197,000 | 34.9% |
| 7) | France | 261,000 | 186,000 | -28.7% |
| 8) | Taiwan (ROC) | 191,000 | 178,000 | -6.8% |
| 9) | India | 98,000 | 125,000 | 27.6% |
| 10) | Philippines | 116,000 | 105,000 | -9.5% |

In 2006, the U.K. and Japan combined generated slightly less than one-third of the overseas visitors to California. The number of U.K. visitors to California in 2006 decreased by 3% from 778,000 in 2005, to 752,000 in 2006. Japanese visitor volume to California decreased by 11% from 722,000 in 2005, to 646,000 in 2006. The volume of visitors from China, followed by those from India and South Korea recorded the largest percentage increases for 2006, increasing by 35% (China), 28% (India), and 23% (South Korea). France and Germany experienced the largest percentage decreases of 29% and 22%, respectively for 2006.

¹ The majority of Mexican visitors to California in 2006 arrived by ground transportation through a U.S. border port of entry. Mexican visitors arriving in the U.S. by ground transportation are not included in the "In-Flight Survey" and are not included in this study. Please note that Canadians are also not included in the In-Flight Survey or this study.

Overseas Visitors to the U.S. and California

- Market Share. Among the ten largest overseas visitor markets, California's share of visitors from South Korea, China, and India increased, while the market share for Japan, Australia, Germany, France, Taiwan, and the Philippines, decreased in 2006. The market share for the United Kingdom remained the same.
- Decline in Overall Market Share. California's market share of overseas visitors to the U.S. has recorded a general decline since the late 1990s. In 1997, California's market share of overseas visitors to the U.S. was 26.6%. By 2005, California's market share had dropped to 22.1% and continued to drop in 2006 to 21.3%.

- Main Destination. Three quarters (75%) of overseas visitors to California indicated that California was their main destination, similar to that reported in previous years.
- California MSAs Visited. Similar to last year's data, the most common Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs) visited by overseas visitors to California included Los Angeles - Long Beach (55%) and San Francisco (44%), followed by San Diego (14%), San Jose (9%), and Anaheim-Santa Ana (7%).
- Purpose of Trip. Overseas travelers to California listed multiple reasons for their trip including: vacation (59%, the same percentage as in 2003, 2004, and 2005), visiting friends/relatives (39%) and business (33%). Compared to other overseas travelers, visitors from India (58%) and China (59%) reported the highest proportion of business travelers, while visitors from the U.K. reported the highest proportion of travelers on vacation/holiday (77%).
- Leisure/Recreation Activities. Shopping (87%), dining (86%), and sightseeing (54%) were the most common leisure and recreation activities of overseas visitors to California in 2006. More than 93% of visitors from the U.K. as well as from Australia reported dining in restaurants.
- Use of Travel Agents. Travel agent usage has declined steadily over the last several years. Travel agents were used to book 55% of air trips in 2006, compared with 57% in 2005. Visitors from Australia (76%) reported the highest dependence on travel agents to book their air trips. Only 25% of overseas travelers relied on travel agents to make lodging arrangements, 10% reported contacting hotels/motels directly, and nine percent reported that their company's travel department booked hotel rooms for them.
- Accommodations. Almost eight in ten overseas travelers to California reported staying in hotels or motels at some time during their trip (78%). Visitors from Japan reported the highest hotel usage of visitor groups (87%). Visitors from Taiwan reported the lowest hotel usage (62%).
- Sex and Age. Similar to results from previous years, slightly less than two-thirds (63%) of overseas travelers to California during 2006 were adult males and slightly more than one-third (37%) were adult females. During 2006, the average age of traveling adult males (44 years old) was three years older than the average traveling adult female (41 years old).
- Length of Stay. During 2006, California's overseas visitors spent an average of 20 nights in the U.S. and 11 nights in California; these numbers are the same as those from 2004 and 2005. Once again, visitors from India reported the highest number of nights stayed in the U.S. (45 nights) as well as in California (23 nights). Visitors from Mexico and Japan reported the least amount of time spent in the U.S. (9 nights and 11 nights, respectively) as well as in California (7 nights each, respectively).

- Use of Domestic Airlines and Rental Cars. Slightly less than four in ten overseas visitors to California made use of a taxi/cab/limousine or airlines (39% and 38%, respectively) as a means of transportation within the U.S. These were followed by use of a rental car (36%) and company or private auto (31%). Visitors from Italy and Germany were most likely to rent an auto (53% and 52%, respectively). Visitors from Australia were the most likely to fly between U.S. cities (53%) and visitors from India and Australia were most likely to make use of a taxi/cab/limousine (57% and 56%, respectively).
- Advance Trip Decision. The average overseas visitor to California decides to travel a median of 60 days prior to the actual trip, the same as that reported in 2005. In 2006 visitors from the U.K. reported the longest trip planning time (median = 100 days), followed by visitors from Germany, France, and Australia (90 days each).
- Advance Ticket Purchase. Overseas visitors to California purchased their airline ticket a median of 30 days prior to the actual trip, the same as that reported in 2005. Visitors from South Korea, Taiwan, China, and Mexico (air), reported the shortest time frame from airline reservation to departure date (median = 15 days). On the other hand, visitors from the U.K. reported the longest time frame from airline reservation to departure (median = 80 days).
- Travel Party Size. Consistent with results from previous years, the average travel party size for all overseas visitors to California during 2006 was 1.5 people. Visitors from the U.K., Mexico, and South Korea were the most likely to include children (12%, 12%, and 11%, respectively).
- Prepaid Trip Package. Package tours were used by 15% of all 2006 visitors to California, the same as that reported in 2004 and 2005. During 2006, visitors to California who reported the highest use of inclusive tours were from Italy (27%), followed by visitors from the U.K., China, and France (24%, 23%, and 22%, respectively).
- Expenditures in the U.S. by Overseas and Mexican (air) Visitors to California. Expenditures in the U.S. during 2006 rose from 2005, averaging $110 per person per day (average expenditure in 2005 was $103 per day). In 2006, overseas visitors' total trip expenditures averaged $4,163 compared with $3,985 in 2005. Visitors to California from China ($161), Japan ($156) and from Mexico ($149) reported the highest average daily expenditures.
- Expenditures in California. In 2006, the total number of overseas and Mexican (air) visitors to California was 4,615,000. These visitors reported spending $110 per person per day and they stayed an average of 10.6 nights in California. Thus, each visitor to California was worth an average of about $1,166. The total spending in California was estimated at almost $5.4 billion ($5.3 billion in 2005).

INTRODUCTION

This report on overseas visitors to California is based on data compiled from the 2006 Office of Travel & Tourism Industries (OTTI) "Survey of International Air Travelers." The survey is conducted by CIC Research, Inc. in cooperation with over 80 major airlines on a sample of their international flights departing from U.S. airports. The survey information is collected from passengers through questionnaires covering traveler demographics, trip activities, places visited and travel expenditures. This survey program was initiated in response to a growing need for information on the volume, characteristics, and travel patterns of international air travelers to and from the United States. The data from the survey are used by the public and private sectors to guide strategic planning and marketing to international air travelers.

Approximately 6,900 survey respondents reported a California visit in 2006. This is a very robust sample size, providing a unique opportunity to evaluate the characteristics of the international visitor market. However, since airline participation is voluntary and varies from quarter to quarter, country level data should be viewed cautiously. For example, if a major carrier for a particular country was unable to participate for a quarter, the data may not fully represent the market's international travel to California.

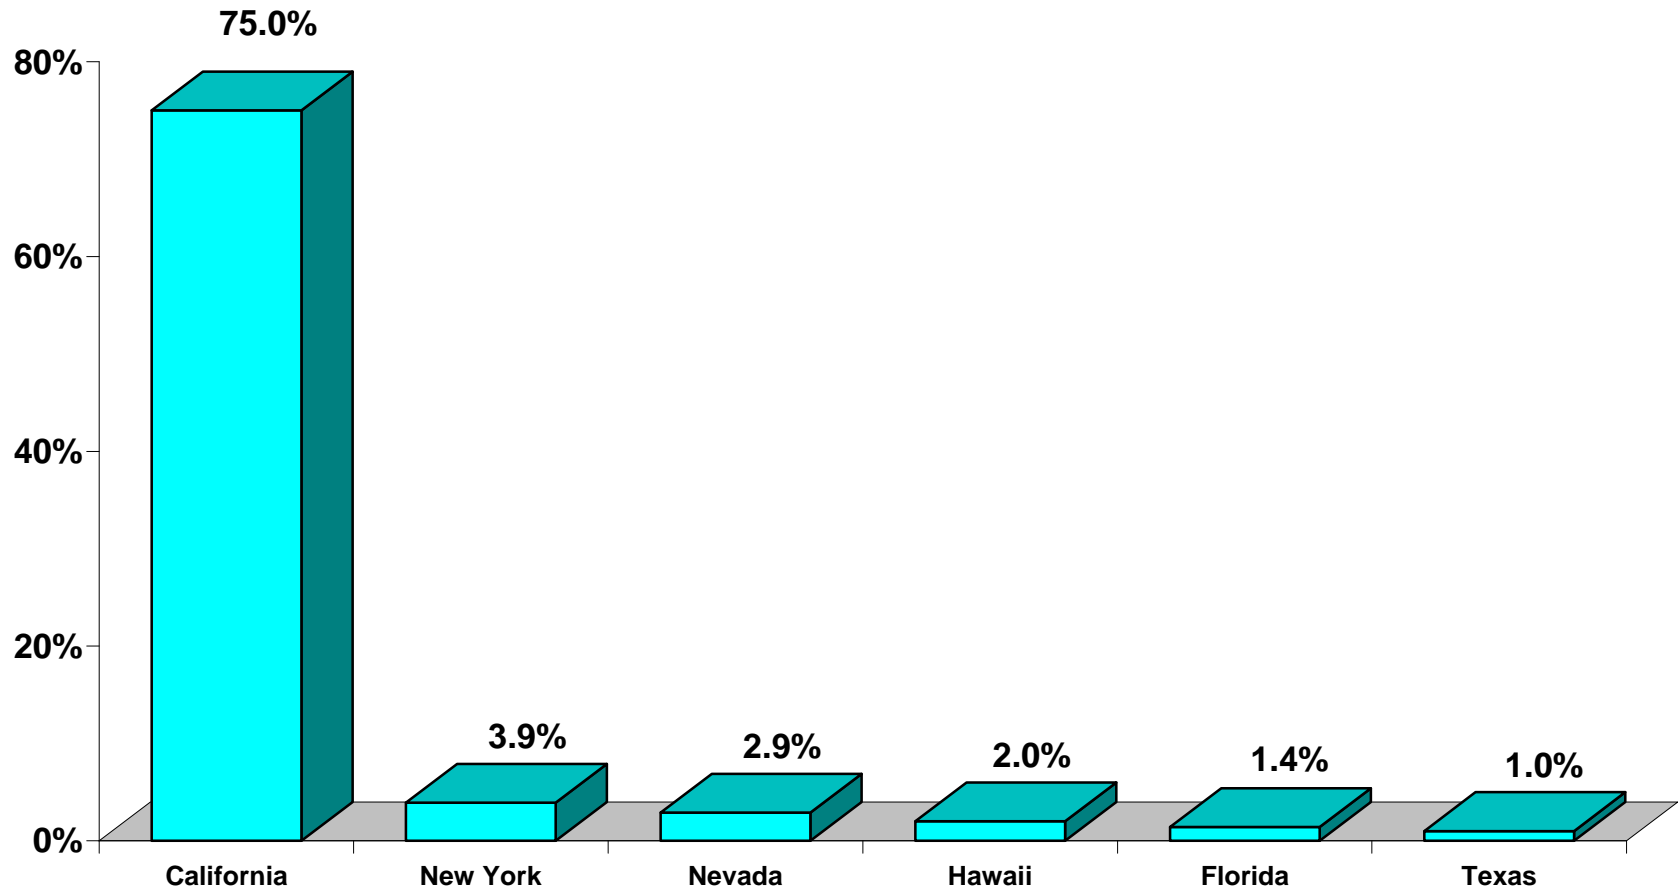

With the exception of the number of respondents, all the data in the tables are statistical estimates, based on responses to the survey and supplemented with data from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Passengers on most charter flights and passengers traveling by air between the U.S. and Canada are excluded. Travelers to the U.S. from Mexico arriving on an international flight have been included in the 2006 report. However, most travelers from Mexico to California arrive in the U.S. through a land port of entry. A more detailed explanation of the survey methodology appears in Appendix A and a copy of the survey questionnaire in Appendix B.

MEANS OF BOOKING AIR TRIP AND LODGING
(2006)

- Over half of overseas visitors to California used a travel agent to make airline reservations (55%). In comparison, one quarter (25%) of visitors used a travel agent to make lodging arrangements. Visitors from Australia and India reported the highest use of travel agents in booking their air trip (76% and 68% each respectively). Visitors from Australia also reported the highest use of travel agents in booking their lodging (34%).
- Visitors from the U.K., France and Italy reported the highest use of a personal computer in booking their air trip (24%, 22% and 21% each respectively), whereas visitors from France and Mexico (air) reported the highest proportion who booked with the airline directly (19%), and visitors from India reported the highest use of a company travel department (25%).

U.S. TRIP INFORMATION SOURCES
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Consistent with previous years, almost half of the overseas travelers to California (48%) used information from travel agencies to plan their trip. Usage of a personal computer (i.e., the Internet) at 35% was unchanged in 2006 from 2005 after increasing in previous years. Travelers who called the airlines directly (19%), those who relied on friends/relatives (16%), and those who used the corporate travel department (10%) rounded out the top five information sources.
- Visitors from Australia (71%) followed by those from India (62%) showed the highest use of travel agencies as information sources. Use of a personal computer was the second highest source of information for overseas travelers (35%). United Kingdom travelers (43%), as well as travelers from Germany (42%) all reported high computer usage.

AIRLINE TICKET CLASS AND PREPAID TRIP PACKAGE
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- More than seven in ten (73%) overseas visitors to California used an economy/tourist ticket, while 16% used a business class ticket. Mexican (air) travelers (13%) followed to a lesser extent by travelers from China (4%) reported the highest use of first class tickets.
- Fifteen percent (15%) of overseas travelers to California traveled with an inclusive tour package, where airfare, lodging, ground transportation, or other items were prepaid prior to departure. Visitors from Italy (27%), the U.K. (24%), China (23%), and France (22%) took the greatest advantage of inclusive tour packages. On the other hand, the fewest visitors from India (2%) used tour packages.

ADVANCE TRIP DECISION
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN LEISURE VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Overseas leisure visitors to California reported a median advance trip decision period of 90 days, one month longer than the 60 days for all overseas visitors to California (Table 7). The median advance airline ticket reservation period for leisure visitors was 60 days in 2006 compared with 59 days in 2005.
- In 2006, leisure visitors from the U.K. reported the longest advance airline reservation time (90 days), compared to visitors from other countries. This result was the same as that in 2005.

MEANS OF BOOKING AIR TRIP AND LODGING
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN LEISURE VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Travel agents booked approximately 55% of airline ticket reservations for overseas leisure travelers to California. The proportion of travel agent air bookings ranged from a low of 42% for leisure travelers from Italy, to a high of 80% of leisure travelers from Australia, and 77% of leisure travelers from China.
- A personal computer (i.e., Internet) was the second most common method used by leisure overseas visitors to book air trips (20%). This percent was up from 17% in 2005. Booking with the airline directly was the next most common method used to book air trips by leisure visitors to California (13%).
- Travel agents played a less significant role in booking U.S. lodging reservations (27%) than in booking airline reservations (55%).

ACCOMMODATIONS
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN LEISURE VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Almost three-quarters (73%) of overseas leisure travelers to California reported staying in hotels or motels at some time during their trip. Hotel usage was highest among visitors from The U.K. (84%), Italy (82%) and Australia (80%). Hotel usage was lowest among visitors from Taiwan (45%). A high proportion of Indian (75%), Taiwanese (68%), and Chinese (57%) leisure travelers stayed in private homes.

TRANSPORTATION IN THE U.S.
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN LEISURE VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Leisure travelers relied upon a variety of transportation within the U.S. including rental cars (38%), taxis/limousines (34%), domestic flights (34%), and private or company autos (33%). Leisure visitors from China, Australia, and India relied heavily on domestic airline travel (60%, 53%, and 42%), each respectively), whereas leisure visitors from China, South Korea and Taiwan relied heavily on a company or private auto (67%, 59%, and 58% each respectively). Rental car use was highest among Italian (61%) leisure visitors.

TRIP EXPENDITURES
OVERSEAS AND MEXICAN LEISURE VISITORS TO CALIFORNIA
(2006)

- Overseas leisure travelers in 2006 reported total expenditures in the U.S. of $1,893, eight percent higher than that reported in 2005 ($1,750). The 2006 mean daily expenditure was $99 per visitor, up 11% from $89 per day in 2005. As a comparison, all overseas travelers to California reported U.S. expenditures of $2,137 or $110 per day (Table 19).
- Leisure visitors from Australia reported the highest international airfare per visitor per trip ($2,015), while Mexican and German air travelers reported the least expensive international airfare ($941 and $1,097, each respectively).

APPENDIX A

SURVEY BACKGROUND

Introduction

This report on overseas visitors to California is based on data compiled from the Office of Travel & Tourism Industries (ITA – OTTI), Survey of International Air Travelers. The survey information is collected from passengers through questionnaires covering the traveler, the air trip, activities and places visited, and air travel expenditures.

The survey is conducted voluntarily by selected major airlines on a sample of their international flights departing from U.S. airports. This survey program was initiated in response to a growing need for information on the volume, characteristics, and travel patterns of international air travelers to and from the United States. The data from the survey are used to guide planning oriented toward the activities of international air travelers for both the public and private sectors.

Questionnaire Content

The survey questionnaire is designed to obtain responses from U.S. as well as non-U.S. residents. The questionnaire contains questions about the travelers (e.g., age, sex, family income, country and city of residence, previous travel experience, etc.). It also contains many basic questions about the current trip (e.g., type of air ticket, travel party composition, nights away from home, trip purpose, etc.).

The distinguishing features of this questionnaire are the complete trip itinerary and the trip expenditure data items. These items collect more complete data on these areas than are available elsewhere. Every major destination visited is covered, as is the length of stay and the type of accommodations utilized. Travel expenditures are also covered by type of expenditure. The entire questionnaire is reproduced in Appendix B.

Survey Operations

Data are collected monthly through in-flight passenger surveys conducted on a sample of the participating airlines' scheduled international flights that depart from United States airports during the seven days beginning with the third Monday of the month. Participating airlines receive advance listings of the flights to be surveyed, followed by a survey kit for each sample flight. The kits each contain instructions and questionnaires in the appropriate language. (The questionnaire is available in English, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Spanish, Korean and Chinese).

Airline cabin personnel distribute the self-administered questionnaires to all adult passengers and collect the completed forms prior to debarkation.

Sample Design

The sample is designed around the geographic detail desired for the resulting estimates and the specific airlines willing to participate in the survey. The design is a stratified, two-stage cluster sample, where scheduled flights are randomly selected from strata defined by airline and foreign destination in the first stage of the sample. When the survey is conducted on a selected flight, those passengers who respond are considered to represent all passengers on that flight.

Understanding the Estimates

Since airline participation is voluntary and changes from quarter to quarter, country level data should be viewed cautiously. For example, if a major carrier for a particular country was unable to participate for a quarter, the data for that country may not fully represent the country's international travel.

With the exception of the number of respondents, all the data in the tables are statistical estimates, based on responses to the survey and supplemented with data from the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Passengers on charter flights and persons traveling by air between the U.S. and Canada are excluded.

The estimates are subject to a certain amount of error resulting from the sampling, data collection, and estimation processes. Because of the complicated nature of the sample design and the resulting computational burden, sampling variability has not been calculated for the estimates. Instead, an indication of the reliability of a set of related estimates is given by the number of respondents to the relevant questionnaire items. The reader must exercise judgment in determining the amount of confidence to place in an estimate and in its proper use. For example, an estimate based on 500 respondents is more reliable than one based on 200 respondents. Several kinds of estimates appear in the tables. The majority are in the form of percent distributions of the responses to questionnaire items. Distributions for items allowing only one choice of response will total to 100 percent. Those allowing more than one choice may total to more than 100 percent. Where the symbol "--" appears, this means that no or limited data is available for that response.

In addition to estimates of percents, estimates of means and medians are shown for travel party size, age, annual family income, number of nights stayed and by type of accommodations.

Definitions

Notes of explanation for selected variables appearing in the row headings of the tables are given below.

Residence of Visitors: In the overseas tables the major traffic-generating countries are listed by world regions, as described in Appendix C. Countries not listed are combined by region into the "Other Region X" categories.

Type and Size of Travel Party: A travel party can fall into only one of these categories: traveling alone; family group; business group; and mixed business, family, and other. These four categories total 100 percent. A party is classified as mixed if the party is a combination of two or more of the other categories. Mean and median party size are computed from the distribution of frequencies of parties of different sizes (for example, three passengers traveling together are counted as a single party in the frequency distribution from which mean and median party size are computed).

Air Expenditures: The amounts shown for mean international airfare and mean expenditures while in the United States on this trip are those amounts spent over and above any inclusive tour expenditures paid prior to beginning the trip. The categories are mutually exclusive.

Mean: The mean is the sum of all responses divided by the number of responses.

Median: The median is that value for which 50 percent of the values lie below it and 50 percent are above it.

Leisure Visitors: Are defined as those visitors whose main purpose of trip is vacation/holidays or visiting friends/relatives.

AIR TRAVELERS

DEPARTING THE UNITED STATES

Dear International Traveler:

Please help the travel industry improve the services they offer you. The information collected in this survey is used by airlines, travel agents, hotels, government travel offices, and other travel planners and providers to understand you, the international traveler, and thereby take steps to improve your next international trip.

This questionnaire is designed to be completed by both non-U.S. residents who have visited the country and U.S. residents traveling abroad. If you are 18 years of age or older, please complete this voluntary survey. ONLY ONE RESPONSE PER FAMILY GROUP, PLEASE.

Upon completing this survey, please return it to the person who provided it to you. The estimated average time to complete this questionnaire is 15 minutes. Should you have any comments regarding this survey, please send them to Tourism Industries, ITA, Washington DC 20230, or Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, OMB, Project 0605-0007, Washington, DC 20503.

Thank you for your cooperation on this important survey.

This survey also available in Japanese, French, German, Spanish, Chinese, Korean, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Italian.
